Southeast's Largest Sci-Fi Convention

MMO Track Information Packet

Welcome!

Dragon*Con was launched in 1987 as an outgrowth / evolution of a local SF and Gaming group. Now in our 22nd year, we endeavor to bring fans a premier multi-genre event featuring the best of pop-culture and entertainment.

We are currently listed by the Atlanta Convention and Visitors Bureau as the 9th largest convention in the City of Atlanta. With attendance growing every year, we have expanded to include the Atlanta Hyatt Regency, The Atlanta Marriott Marquis and The Atlanta Hilton and Towers in our programming and event space.

This packet contains contact information, contracts and advertising information to assist you in planning your Dragon*Con experience. We encourage your involvement in our Programming and Gaming events. We welcome your suggestions of ways to continue to improve Dragon*Con. Please call for further information or if you have questions.

We have finalized contract negotiations into the future. Our confirmed dates are:

September 4 - 7, 2009
September 3 - 6, 2010
September 2 - 5, 2011

I look forward to seeing you in Atlanta!

Pat Henry
Chairman

Word from the Director:

Thank you for your interest in the Dragon*Con MMORPG Programming Track. Our mission is to provide our fans with an opportunity to get acquainted with the people behind their favorite MMORPGs as well as give them an opportunity to learn about new games in an interactive and fan-friendly setting. Rather than focus on industry insiders and hardcore gamers, we provide an opportunity for game companies to meet and interact with more casual fans and even newcomers to the genre. So far, our mission has been very successful with attendance numbers matching or exceeding Dragon*Con's most popular events.

We would love to have you join us in 2009. Last year was our first year as a separate programming track, and while we did a lot of things better than we thought we would, we have learned some valuable lessons and expect next year to be even better. If there is anything I can do at any time during the year to help you participate in Dragon*Con, I am happily at your service.

About DragonCon:

Dragon*Con is a Science Fiction/Fantasy/Pop Culture convention started in Atlanta Georgia in 1987. Our first year saw 1,400 people descend on the Piedmont Plaza hotel, and the convention has grown to 4 hotels, and nearly 40,000 people since then. Today, Dragon*Con is the largest convention of it's kind in North America hosting events as diverse and wide ranging as writer's workshops to robot battles to professional wrestling to live concerts from bands such as Gwar, The Misfits, and Blue Oyster Cult.

Dragon*Con is staffed exclusively by volunteers, and it takes nearly 2,000 of them to run the convention each year. In addition to our concerts and other events, Dragon*Con hosts an annual parade each year drawing tens of thousands of fans lining Peachtree Street along the parade route. In recent years, due to the overwhelming popularity of some of our events, Dragon*Con TV, which is available in each of the convention hotels, rebroadcasts events from current and past years along with several fan-made videos created throughout the year.

For more information on our current guests and events, please check <http://www.dragoncon.org>.

About the MMO Track:

Over the past 6 years, Dragon*Con's MMORPG track has been one of the fastest growing, and most anticipated programming tracks at the convention. In 2002, Trevor Legg, Waylon Adams, Elonka Dunin, and Kevin Stallard hosted the first panels on MMO gaming as part of the Electronic Frontiers track at Dragon*Con.

By 2005, what started out as one or two panels had now grown to nearly a half dozen panels. Rooms that were meant to hold 50 or 60 people were now packed with hundreds. In 2007, we were offered a chance to do a "half-track" of panels for the Gaming programming track. That year, we hosted nearly a dozen panels on MMORPGs including Everquest (still a favorite at D*C), Age of Conan (which was still in development), and of course, World of Warcraft. Interest in our panels exceeded our wildest expectations. We split our Age of Conan demo into two sessions and still had to turn away 300 people. Our World of Warcraft panels overflowed two rooms and still had a line of over 500 people waiting to get in. We had become one of the hottest events at the convention without much in the way of fanfare or publicity.

What can DragonCon do for my company?

Dragon*Con is a unique event combining nearly all elements of Sci-Fi/Fantasy fandom that is run by volunteers and paid for entirely by memberships and ticket sales. Many of you that I have talked to have compared Dragon*Con to industry events such as Penny Arcade Expo and the Austin Game Developers Conference. Respectfully, I say that Dragon*Con is something far different.

Not just another Trade Show.

One difference is that Dragon*Con is not a "trade show". We provide gaming companies a chance to interact directly with their fans. Some of our previous guests have elected to throw large parties and social events, others have chosen to show product demonstrations, still others have engaged in direct Q&A with our audience. How you choose to participate is up to you, and we are here to help in any way we can. Unlike most industry shows, Dragon*Con's focus is on the fan and not our sponsors. (Actually, we don't have sponsors at all.)

Untapped Fan Base.

The biggest difference between Dragon*Con and these other events is that our fans are not necessarily gamers (at least, not yet). At PAX, Gen Con, or other industry shows, the core audience is already familiar with the state of the art in gaming. These shows are focused on gaming, and essentially game developers are "preaching to the choir". Dragon*Con's audience is significantly different. Many of our fans are not avid computer gamers, but are fans of other forms of Science Fiction/Fantasy. Dragon*Con provides game developers with an excellent opportunity to attract new fans to their games. We have Tolkien fans who have never heard of Lord of the Rings Online, Star Wars fans who have never seen Star Wars Galaxies, and Fantasy aficionados who have never played World of Warcraft or Everquest. There is no other event where you can find this many potential players concentrated in one place.

More "play" than "work".

Ultimately, what sets Dragon*Con apart from everyone else is the atmosphere. When I spoke with some of the game developers who attended Dragon*Con last year and asked them why they come back every year, their answer was surprising to me. To a man (and woman), each person I spoke with said that they would come to Dragon*Con on their own time and on their own budget because it's that much fun. Where else can you walk into an elevator and find yourself face-to-face with someone like George Takei? Where else can you sit down for dinner and find yourself next to a table with Lou Ferrigno and Adam West? Where else can you walk up to the bar and have a drink with Peter Mayhew (and 10 other folks who happen to be in Chewbacca costumes)? According to one person at Sony, "I can come here and spend 3 hours doing panels talking to nearly as many people as I do at Fan Faire, then spend the rest of my weekend having a good time. I'd gladly come here every year, even if they didn't pay me to do it."

Room for Independent developers, not just the "big boys".

While many of our biggest events each year are focused on games such as Age of Conan and World of Warcraft, Dragon*Con provides a unique opportunity for smaller, independent developers to get noticed. Companies such as Icarus Studios (Fallen Earth), Artix Entertainment (Adventure Quest Worlds), and Wardog Studios (Force of Arms) have access to the same crowds and fans that companies like Sony and Funcom have. Dragon*Con is an excellent venue to build interest in upcoming titles by providing product demos, free trials, or swag to 40,000 potential players over a 4 day weekend.

Quotes from Past Attendees:

*"What do I like most about Dragon*Con? The atmosphere. It is truly a fan event, rather than corporate."*

- Alan Crosby, Sony Online Entertainment

"Dragon Con was an amazing show with regards to the Gaia events. The main panel event which was held out side of the MMO track was a huge hit."

- Chris Castagnetto, Gaia Interactive

*"We've been coming here for the past 5 years, and Dragon*Con is more of a vacation for us than work. Our guys would take vacation time to come here if they had to."*

- Terri Perkins, Funcom

"We definitely want more panels with you next year, you were awesome! I can't tell you how much we appreciated being made to feel welcome at Dragon Con by you and your staff."

- Courtney Nawara, Artix Entertainment

"I absolutely loved the Parade, the crowds all the costume dress , all the events, parties and all of the different tracks. If the Con went for 7 days I think I would go all 7 days. There was so much to do and see and people to speak with and about it was mind boggling. And that's not even talking about our own game,or doing our presentation, thats just enjoying a great time with fellow geeks like us having a good time."

- Brian Hoadley, Wardog Studios

2008 Host Hotels

Our host hotels for 2008 will again include the familiar surroundings of the Hyatt Regency Atlanta, the legendary Atlanta Marriott Marquis, and the Atlanta Hilton and Towers.

The Hilton will host our Tournament and Open Gaming and several of our programming tracks, while the Hyatt will once again host all 24-hour programming events, Video Rooms, our Convention Hospitality Suite (or "Consuite"), Concerts, etc. The Art Show/Print Shop will be located at the Hyatt, and the Dealer Hall and both Exhibit Halls, Walk of Fame, Autographing and several programming tracks will relocate once again to the newly renovated Atlanta Marriott Marquis.

The Marriott and the Hyatt are across the street from each other, and are also connected with a climate-controlled tube way if it's really pouring. The Marriott is easily the most architecturally unique hotel in the city, if not the entire Southeast. The Hilton is located on the opposite side of the Marriott Marquis from the Hyatt.

Please check our website www.dragoncon.org for room reservation codes and special convention rates.

To book rooms via phone, call the Hyatt Regency Hotel at 404-577-1234 or the Marriott Marquis Hotel at 404-497-4661 (7:30 AM - 11:00 PM), or the Atlanta Hilton at (404) 221-6368.

Be sure to mention you are with Dragon*Con when you call any of our hotels. Hotel reservation codes for DragonCon will be available on the website: www.dragoncon.org.

Enclosed valet parking is available at the Hyatt and the Marriott and is currently $24/day. The Atlanta Hilton and Towers offers both self parking as well as valet parking. Several parking decks are available around the hotels.

All three hotels are convenient to MARTA's Peachtree Center station, and the Marriott and Hyatt can be reached from the station via indoor walkways. MARTA has direct train service from Hartsfield Airport's terminals with no transfers, with an approximate travel-time of 30 minutes from the airport to Peachtree Center and our hotels.

DRAGON*CON 2008 EXHIBITOR AND DEALER AGREEMENT

The Agreement is Dragon*Con's statement of Exhibitor / Dealer policy. Please read carefully before signing. Please keep a copy of this agreement for your records. All checks and correspondence are to be mailed to Dragon*Con, Attn: Exhibits, PO Box 16459, Atlanta, GA 30321-0459.
